Abstract

To create a platform where Artists as well as common people can learn new skills or improve their art works and also can interact with each other. As in current scenario, because of the pandemic everyone suffered a lot. Even many of them don't have financial and motivational support to continue with their arts. There is no particular platform where not only tribal artists but also common artists or anyone can learn, earn, grow and get proper exposure for their talent and also help tribals to get in touch with modern world and modern technologies. Many social media applications like Instagram, YouTube, skill share etc., help artists to learn but they don't help them to get customers Frequently. Many foreign companies used to buy tribal artworks in very cheap rate and sell them in high cost to their customers cause of this normal people can't buy these art works because of high prizing. While buying a handmade item most of the customers wants the product according to their will but they have the options of customization in other e-commerce platforms. Basically, the idea is to from an application where customers have the Opportunity to get their own customized product or can also buy hand made products or can choose the artists from whom they want to fabricate their order. This application is not only an e-commerce platform but also a learning platform for the artists as well as common people. This application also helps us to spread Indian culture and tradition all over the globe by the mean of arts.

Chapter 1

Introduction

Background & motivation

Many artists, including my friends, face challenges in gaining exposure and fair compensation for their work. They upload their sketches on an Instagram page, offering commission artworks. However, I noticed that most of the time, people ask my friends for free sketches or request them to sketch for less amount, which has resulted in the undervaluation of their hard work and efforts. Due to this, they didn't receive proper valuation, leading to demotivation. This is a common challenge faced by many struggling and underrated artists who are dealing with similar issues. Some examples of my friends' sketches are shown in Fig. 1.1

Fig. 1.(a). Some Portraits

My Maternal Aunt is a housewife, she spends most of her free time in making hand bags, purses, chandelier and many more stuff to decorate the house even neighbours used to give order to her to make the item and even ask her to teach them. Similarly, there are many more ambitious women and local artists have.

Fig. 1.(b). Some Handicrafts

India is a home of 645 distinct tribes with their unique culture and traditions. Most of the tribal communities are untouched by the modern world and modern technologies. In support of this government of India ask e-commerce websites to focus on tribal art works, many e-commerce platforms like amazon, flip kart, etc. formed portals dedicated to tribal artworks or handicrafts. But these e-commerce websites insist of selling tribal artworks they used to promote their own products as shown in the fig 1.3. So, there is no dedicated online platform to support tribal peoples and help them to sell their artworks and to get proper exposure for the unique way of doing art works.

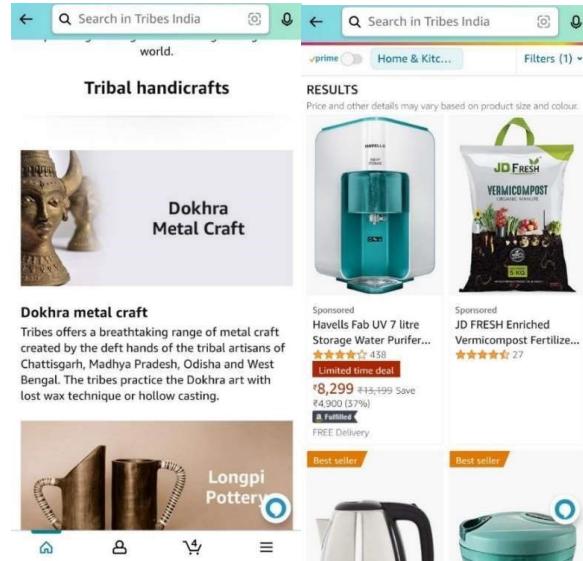

Fig. 1.(c) Screenshots of Amazon

Objective

Artists can learn new skills. To provide proper platform for tribe's artworks and local handicrafts Help local artists to sell their product globally. Provide buyers to have a huge range of choices.

Idea description

To create an application, where tribals, artists and talented housewives can Learn, sell their artworks, and get proper exposure for their talent. Basically, an e-commerce/learning platform focused on tribal and local handicraft and artworks.

Benefits

Customers can choose any artist and ask for customization. They can negotiate with local artist and they can also check the progress and also give suggestions. Customer can buy traditional artwork from any part of the country and the artworks which are already made by the artists. Local / Social media artists will get customers frequently and can learn from top artists where they can even interact with each other. Housewives can get self-employments and the artworks and handicrafts which they created will reach to global level.

Chapter 2

Problem statement and objective of the proposed system

Problem Statement

Lack of connectivity, technology and lack of knowledge among tribal people and country-dweller Because of pandemic middle-class families and local street artists suffered a lot.Tribes, housewives and struggling artists do not have financial support and proper recognition. Applications like YouTube, Instagram, Skill Share, etc. help the artists to learn but they don't help them to get customers frequently. Many companies from foreign used to buy the products/ artworks of tribes in cheap rate and sell them in high cost to their customers.

Objective of the Proposed System

Artists can learn new skills.To provide proper platform for tribes artworks and local-handicrafts Help local artists to sell their product globally. Provide buyers to have a huge range of choices.

Existing System

Artists sell their product individually through social media or many shopping apps.Sometimes they take their artworks to road side art store/vendor. Foreign companies used to take the tribes' art works in cheap rate and sell them in with huge profit.

Expected competitors

- Apps like amazon, flip kart and other shopping apps.
- Instagram, Facebook, and other social medias.
- Learning platforms like YouTube, skill shares, etc.
- Websites that sell the handmade products.

Competitive Advantage

- This platform will act as social media, E-commerce and Learning platform for art enthusiasts.
- Post uploaded by artist acts as a sample of their artwork for the customers.

- Support customization at any stage of artwork fabrication.
- Tribal Artworks will be treated equally.

Chapter 3

Explanations of the system designed

System Architecture /Model

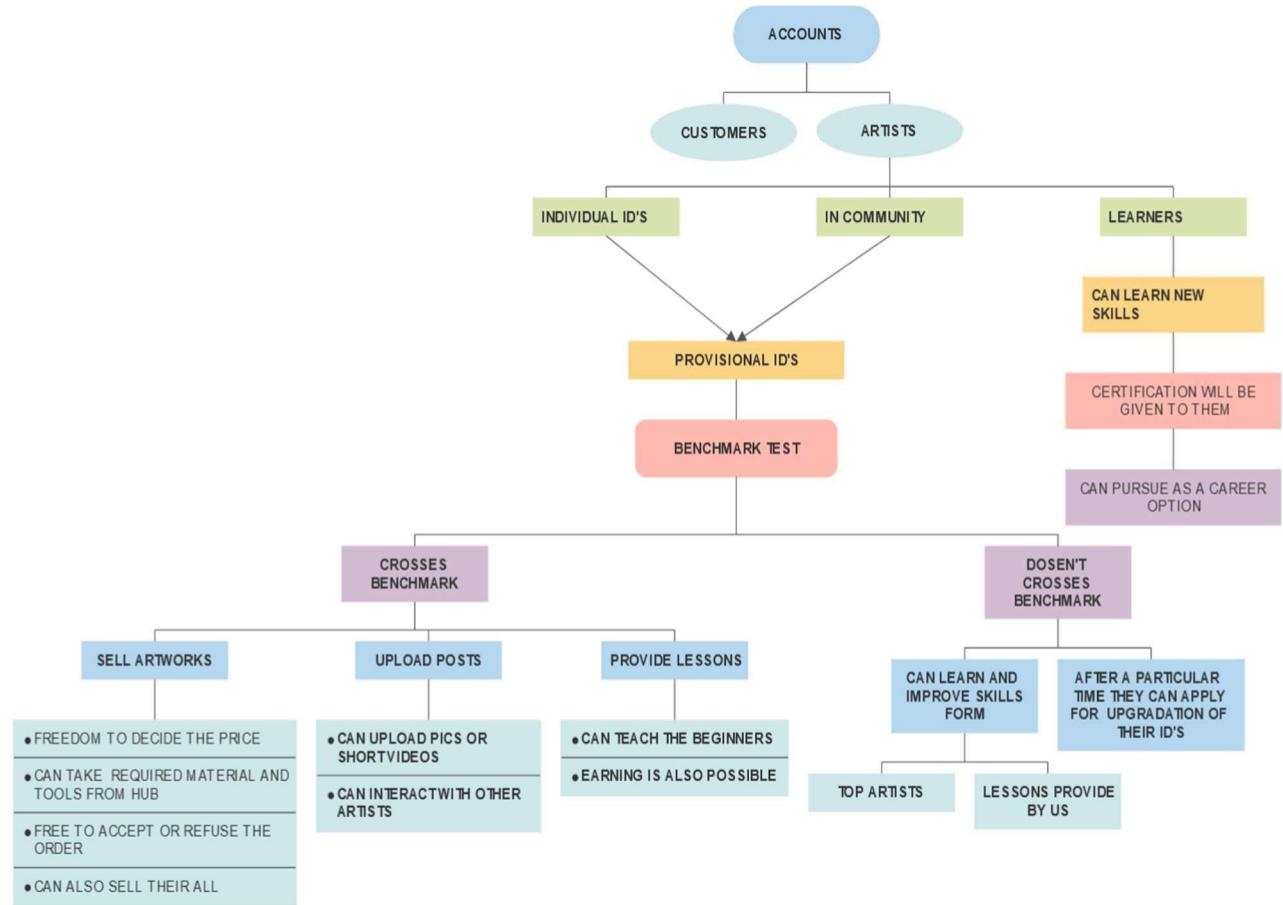

Fig.3.(a) Flowchart explaining type of accounts

Initially all Artists have to create a provisional account. There will be a benchmark test on the basis of which we will categorize artists into 3 types. Crossed Benchmark: The artists whose artworks and skills crosses our bench mark test can post their sample on their profile, sell their artworks and they can also start taking orders. They can also make video lessons to teach the beginners. Slightly below the benchmark. We will provide lessons to them or they can learn from any artists and improve their skills and after that they can apply for the benchmark test for upgradation of their accounts. Serious learners- Basically, this account is for the beginners. The one who wanted to learn new skills can have this account. We will monitor their process and also provide them certification and this could be a career option for them. According to the location and the artworks, artists can form their communities and groups.

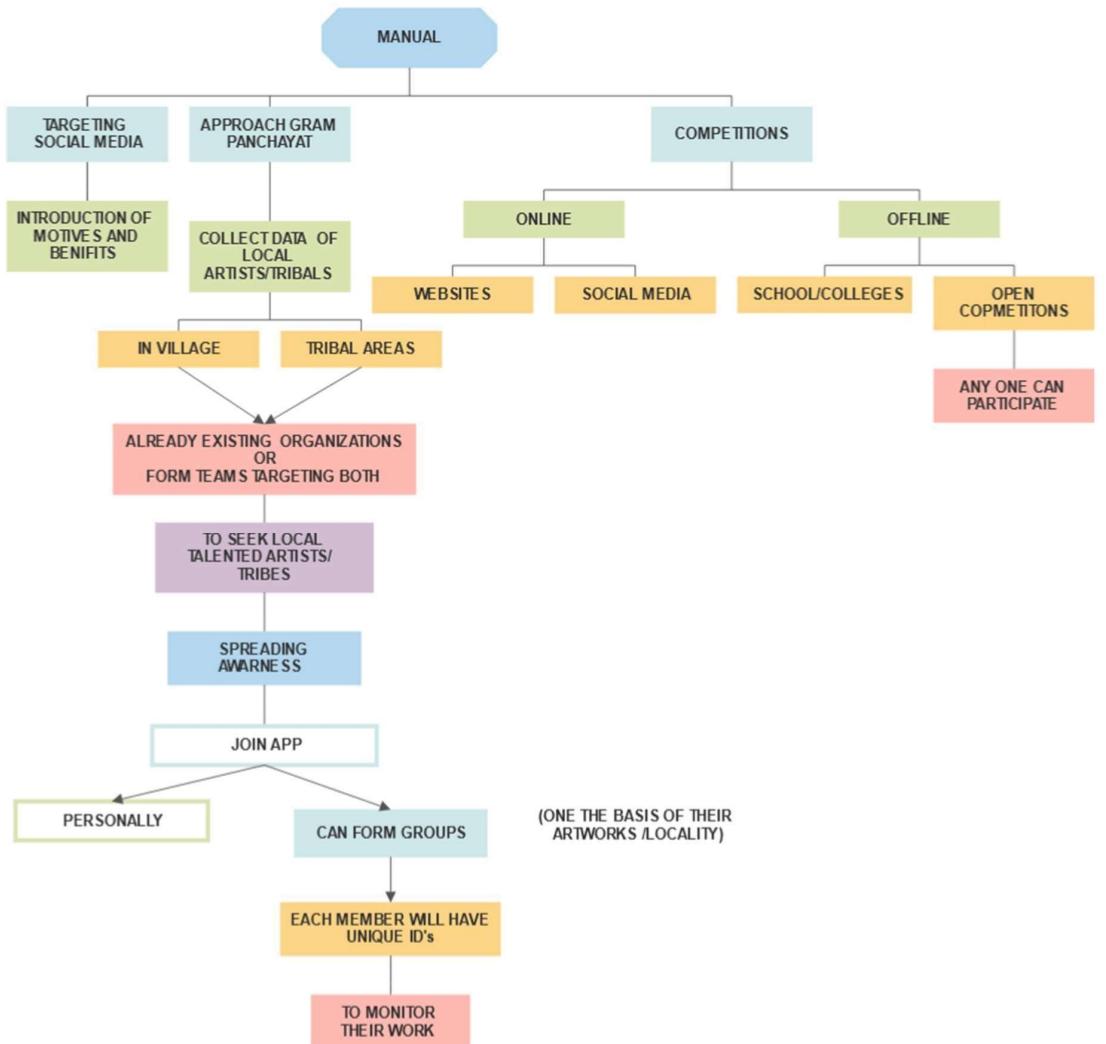

Fig.3 (b) Flowchart on working manual

As the flowchart shows we will collect data about tribal communities and local artists then approach them by different means like; We will form a team, that will visit physically to tribal areas and locate the tribal artists and introduce them about the motives and benefits ask them for their support. We will directly approach to gram panchayat of a village and introduce them about the motives and benefits ask them to bring out the local talented people and also ask them to find tribal artists from the tribal areas near to the village

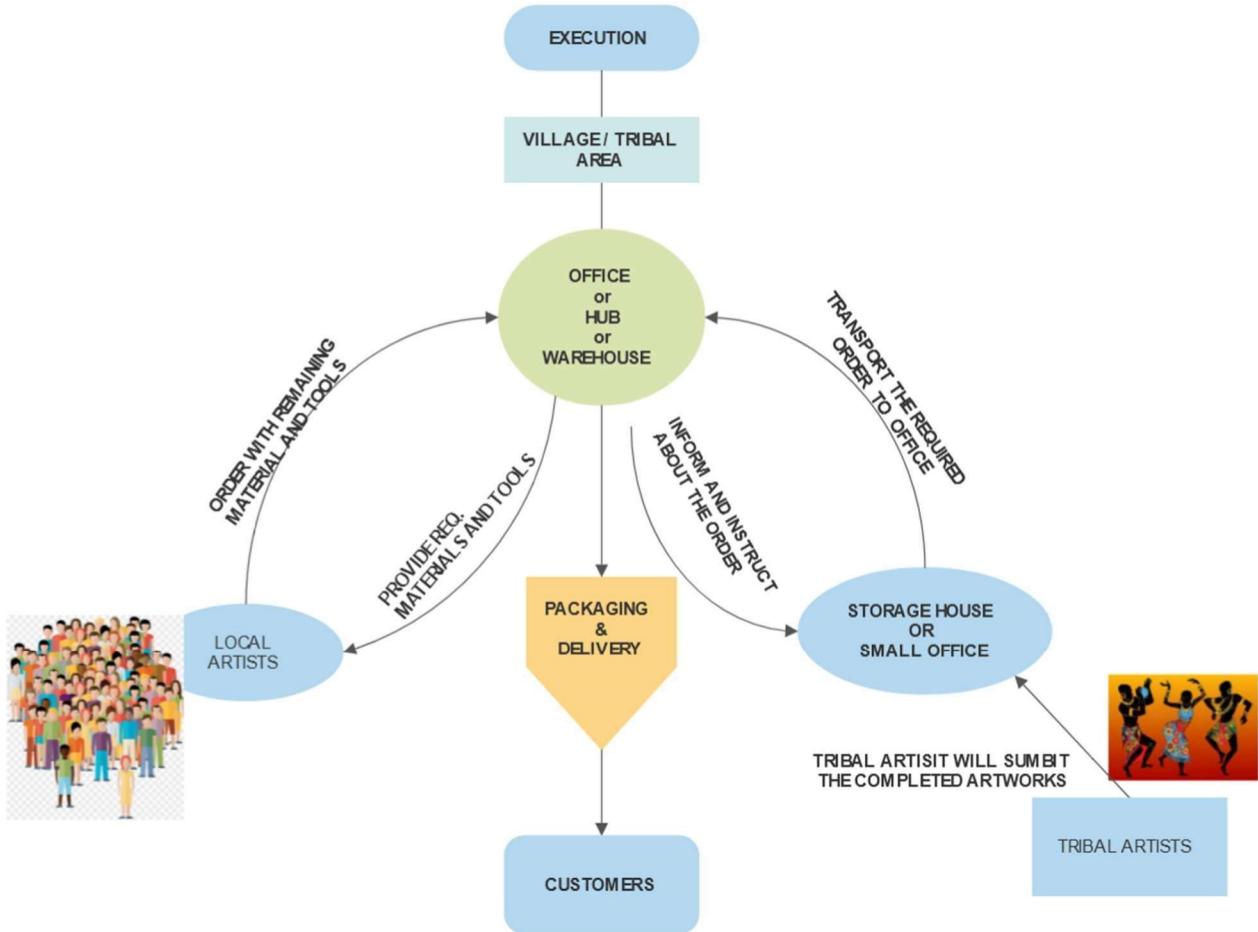

Fig.3 (c) Flowchart on execution

As shown in the flowchart above the establishment of hub-office-warehouse, in such a way that it will cover as many as villages in the radius of 10-15 km. That hub-office-warehouse will provide materials and tools to the artist for completing the order and also take care of packaging and delivery of the order.

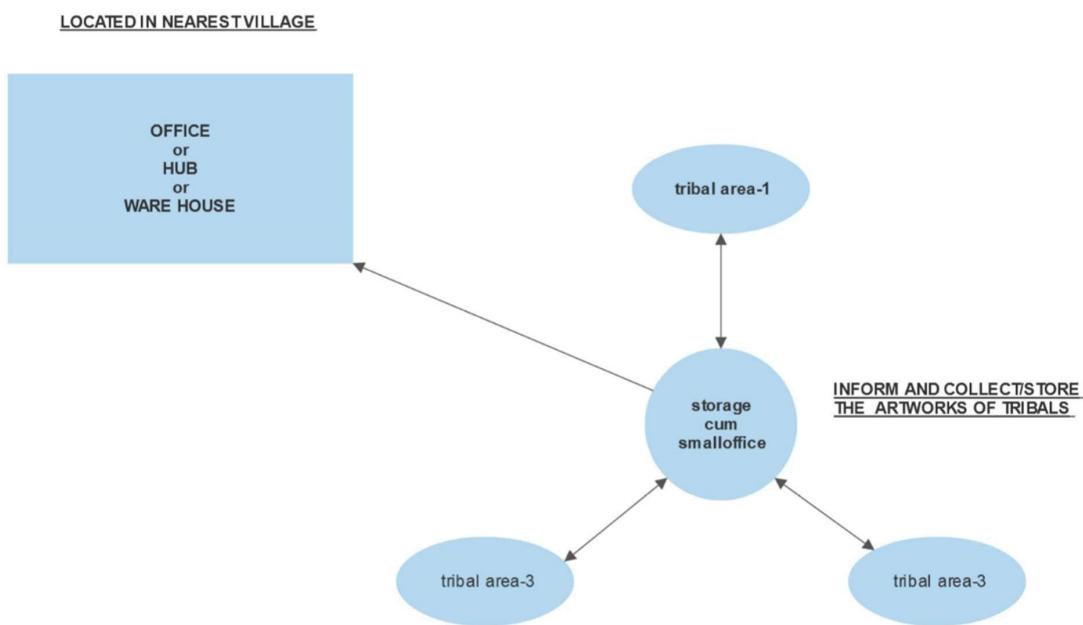

Fig.3 (d) Flowchart on establishment of hub

We will form groups/communities according to their location and artworks. We will choose a group of people from the community. The group will run the hub, the members of the group will keep on changing after a particular interval of time. Hub will take care of the packaging and delivery of the orders; it will also provide materials and tools to artists and maintain the database of incoming and outgoing of the materials and tools.

Conclusion

In the modern era the tribes are getting overshadow due to the lack of education and lack of knowledge about the technology and lack of connectivity with the world cause of these they are lagging behind and their talent and the creativity are approaching toward extinction as they are not getting proper exposure and support by the rest of the world. But the art works and handicraft they made are unique in their own as they reflect the culture and tradition of the tribes. It also has high demand in the western countries. Indian Handicrafts and Artworks are unique on their own. At this age of modernisation most of the things around us are practically made by the machine and if this keeps on continuing soon, we all as humans will lose our creative thinking abilities and we will also leave our culture and tradition behind. These handicrafts and the artworks of local Indian people shows the creative skills of humans and also reflects the diversity in Indian culture. So for the revival of Indian Tribal and Local Artworks and Handicrafts we come up with an business model as it already have potential in the world market.

APPENDIX B
